

Committee Report 2022

ESO Young Stroke Physicians and Researchers Committee

Report of the ESO Committees - Summary

Young Stroke Physicians and Researchers Committee

- Diana Aguiar de Sousa, Portugal (Chair)
- Aristeides Katsanos, Canada
- Barbara Casolla, France
- Ellis S. van Etten, Netherlands
- Lina Palaiodimou, Greece
- Märith Jensen, Germany
- Michele Romoli, Italy
- Peter Sporns, Germany
- Tom Moullaali, UK
- Wojtech Novotny, Norway

Report of the ESO Young Stroke Physicians and Researchers Committee

- ESO blog

- Weekly posts during 2022, including:
 - ESJ comments (simultaneous publication in collaboration with the ESJ editorial office)
 - Interviews – “Ask the expert” (young and senior researcher)
 - Educational clinical cases
 - Short and informal reviews on narrow topics with practical interest
- Wide attention in social media (ESO channels)

- Career mentoring workshop at ESOC 2022

- 4 young stroke researchers presented their projects with the mentors
- Two talks on career development topics (Martin Dichgans and Kennedy Lees)
- 2 awards for the best candidates – place at the ESO summer school and ESO-Edinburgh Stroke Winter School

Report of the ESO Young Stroke Physicians and Researchers Committee

- Department to Department visiting programme
 - 10 grants (6 for middle-low income countries)
 - TF4UKR grants
 - Several reports already published in the ESO blog
 - New programme for 2023 is open
- ESO-Edinburgh Stroke Research Winter School
 - Involvement of the YSPR committee (Tom Moullaali)
- Collaboration with the ESO educational platform - eSTEP
 - YSPR members of the editorial board (Linxin Li and Barbara Casolla)
 - Participation in monthly educational webinars in collaboration with the Education committee

Report of the ESO Young Stroke Physicians and Researchers Committee

- Paper of the month task-force
 - Participation of the YSPR committee (Mårit Jensen)
- ESJ – ESO YSPR peer-review training programme for young researchers
 - New programme planned and conducted in close collaboration with the ESJ (Kennedy Lees)
 - More than 140 applicants
 - 11 candidates selected
 - The mentoring process started in January 2023 and will continue throughout the year